

7

DEADLY SINS

of the Supreme Court

By: Camryn Eckel

SLOTT

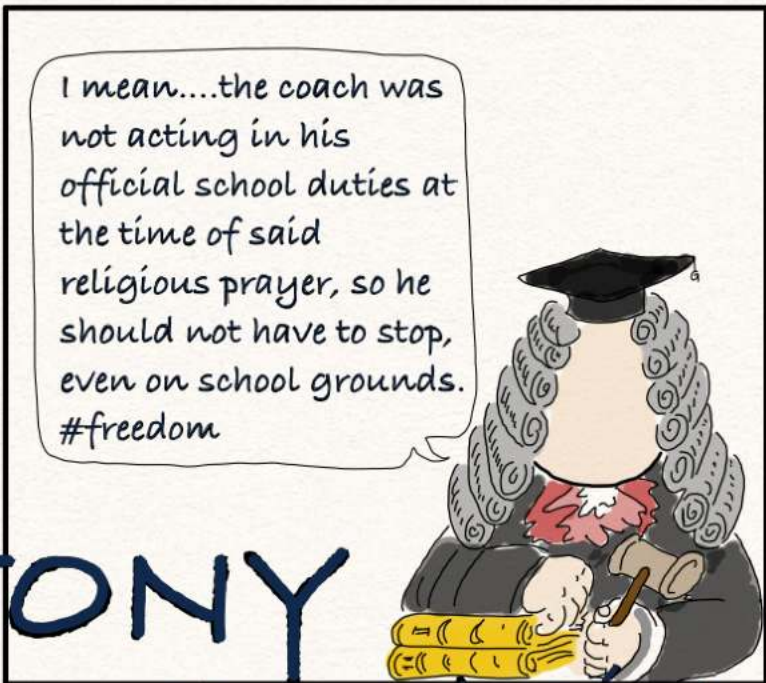

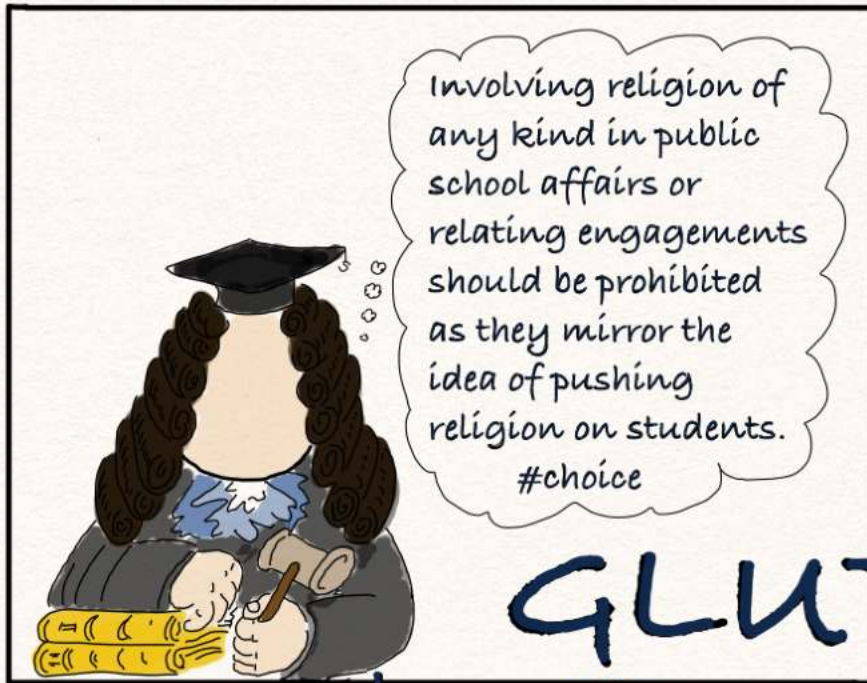

West Virginia v Environmental Protection Agency

Majority 6-3 Opinion

Congress did not authorize the devising emissions caps based on the generation shifting and therefore the EPA has overstepped their approach

If guns won't kill us, climate change will

GLUTTONY

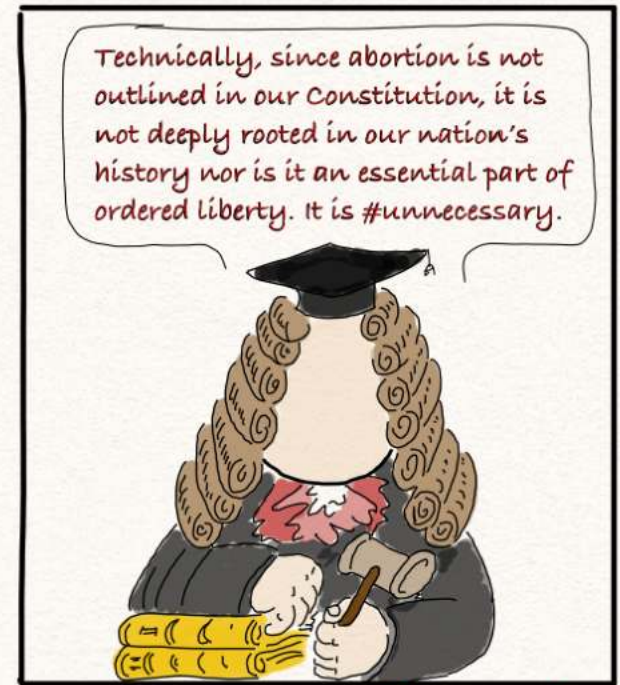

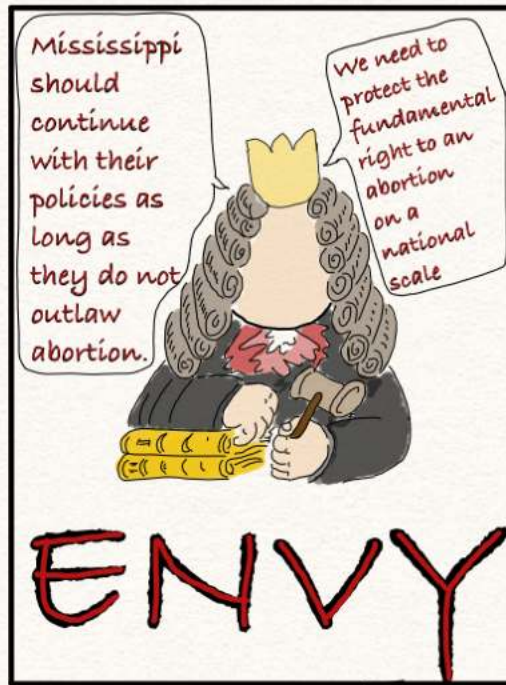

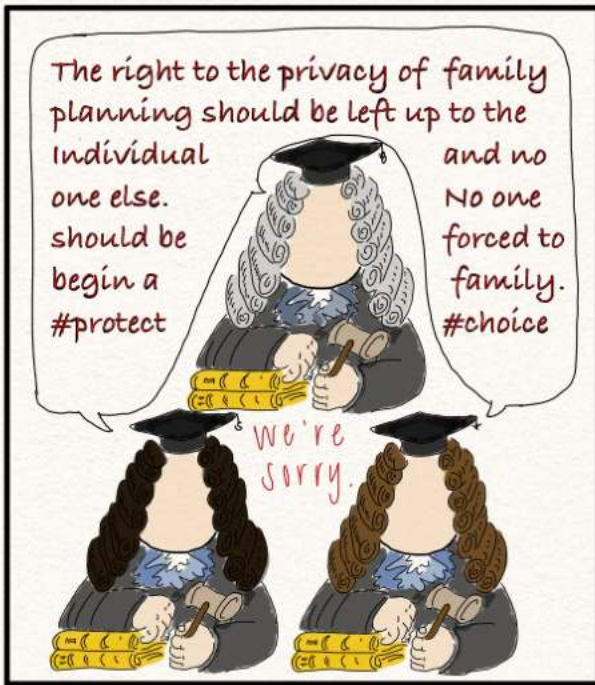

Kennedy v Bremerton School District

Majority 6-3 Opinion

The Constitution neither mandates nor permits the government to censor religious expression, therefore school staff cannot be prohibited from exercising their religion on school grounds, as long as they are not acting in their official staff role.

Freedom of religion ≠ Freedom from religion

Dobbs v Jackson Women's Health Organization

Majority 5-4 Opinion

Abortion is not a right designated to people as outlined in the Constitution, and therefore should be entirely a state decision

YOUR BODIES, OUR CHOICE

Legal question: should the Boston City hall have to approve a flag flying application, for in front of their building, from a Christian based group?

Raising a flag does not mean choosing a religion. The City has issued every other flag raising request, and this should be no different. #equality

PRIDE

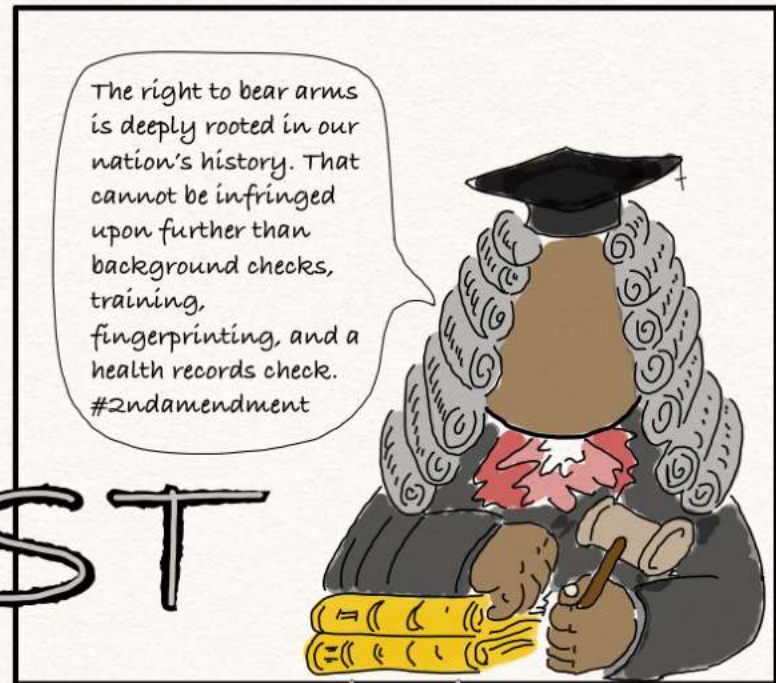

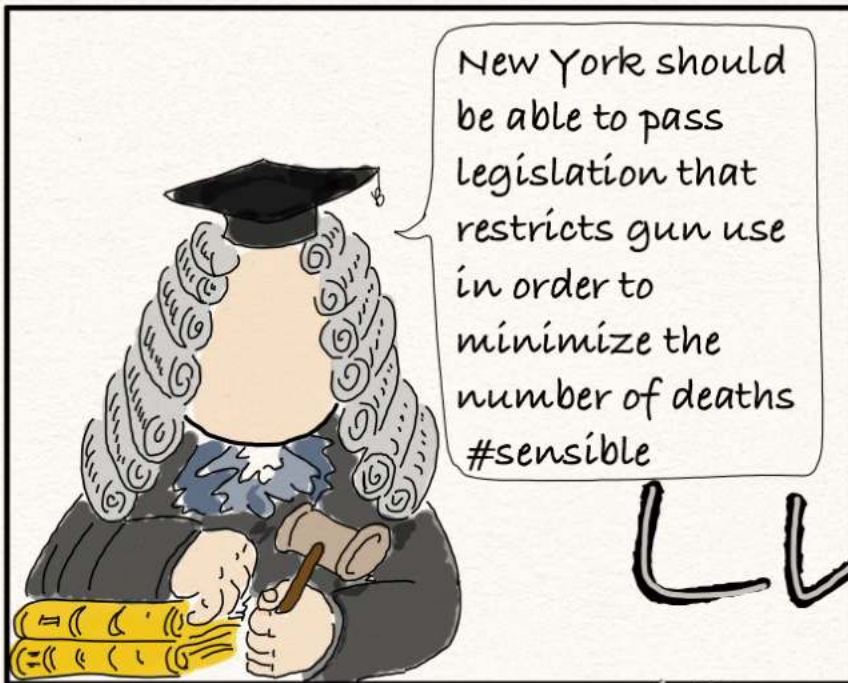

Shurtleff v Boston

Unanimous 9-0 Opinion

The city must raise the flag of the Christian group

Let government buildings promote Christianity, but let's not mention other religions

LUST

New York State Rifle & Pistol Association v Bruen

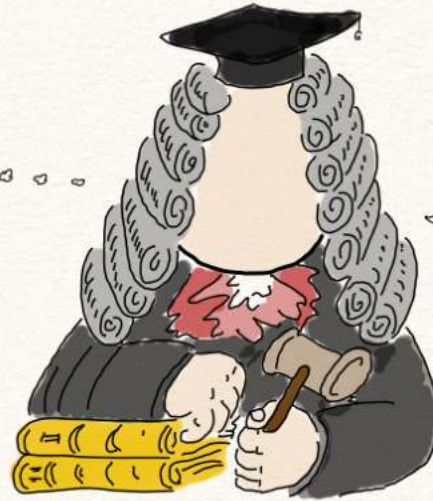

Majority 6-3 Opinion

New York's proper-cause requirement for an unrestricted concealed carry license prevents people from exercising their Second Amendment right and is therefore unconstitutional

Guns are helpful, not harmful

Legal question: is the issuing of a censure resolution, in response to another member's speech, a violation of the First Amendment?

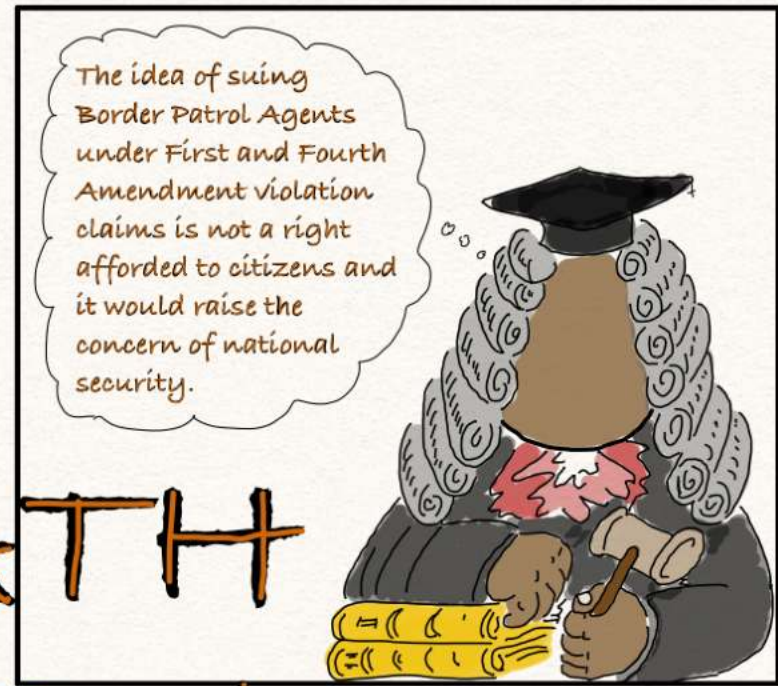

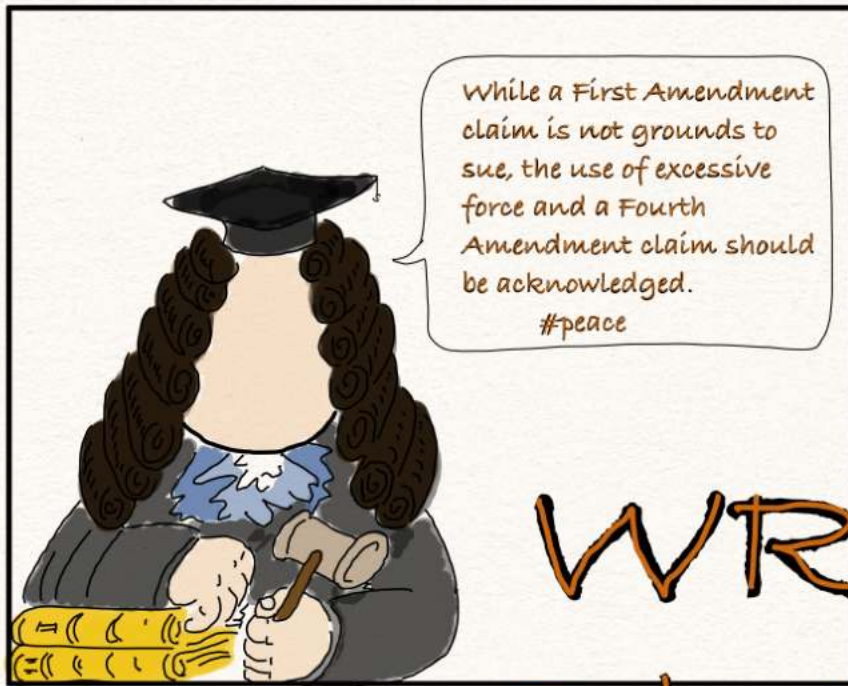

Censure is not a violation of the First Amendment. The powerful can tell those beneath them how to behave.
#powertrip

GREED

Houston Community College System v Wilson

Unanimous 9-0 Opinion
Elected bodies can censure members because it is not a technical constitutional violation
WE MAKE ALL THE RULES.

WRATH

Egbert v Boule

Majority 6-3 Opinion

A person cannot sue a Border Patrol Agent under a First or Fourth Amendment claim Excessive force? We won't tell if you won't.

THE SEVEN SINS

Sloth: lack of climate action

Gluttony: overstepping religious boundaries

Envy: jealousy over another's choice

Pride: inflated sense of ones religion

Lust: unrestrained power craving

Greed: excessive desire for control

Wrath: unmitigated excessive force

VOTE WISELY